The College at Caledonia.

CALEDONIA, Mo., May 8th, 1883.

Ed. Register-A very kind and complimentary communication to your paper from the pen of Judge Emerson a short time since suggested that it would be well for your readers to have an occasional item of Caledonia news. It also wondered why the managers of the Bellevue Collegiate Institute should be so reserved in regard to the merits of this live institution, and why they had not kept the people of the surrounding country better informed as to the workings of the Institute. Now, sir, although I am a very modest man, I think a few facts, briefly stated, in regard to our school will not be unappreciated by many of your readers. First, in the way of material development I may say that I have collected and spent in improvements on the building within the last eighteen months about two thousand dollars. The grounds have also been extended and a number of young trees put out, some of which are growing nicely. The music department has been fitted up with new pianos at a cost of nearly a thousand dollars; and a new music teacher installed, in the person of Miss Clara E. Harris, who is a lady of culture, having graduated at Staunton, Va., and then taken a two years' post-graduate course at Northampton, Mass. Prof. J. S. Gashwiler, our teacher of mathematics, is a graduate of Mount Pleasant College, and has had several years' successful experience as Principal of schools in Saline county. Prof. R. F. Chew, our teacher of languages, is a graduate of Vanderbilt University, and has spent several years as preacher and assisting his brother, Phil. Chew, of St. Louis, in editorial work. Miss Leattie White, our popular primany teacher, was educat d at Arcadia under Rev. J. C. Berryman. Miss Lizzie M. Marrow, our assistant teacher of mathematics and Latin, graduated here last June. Of Mrs. V., our assistant teacher of music, I am too modest to speak, as I am also of the President, your humble servant and obedient friend,

W. D. VANDIVER. P. S .- I will send you programme of commencement exercises next week.

As the road is not in operation yet, there was no ana very careful survey of the line had been made, that active operations in the work of construction would be inaugurated about June 1st, and that once begun it would be pushed rapidly to the operating stage. The road starts from a point in Missouri opposite Chester, Illinois, and runs almost due west through Sainte Mary's, Farmington (where a branch shoots off to the St. Joe Lead Mines), through Iron Mountain and Salem, which for the present will be the terminus. The entire length will be about one hundred and fifty miles. After the situation had been informally discussed at the meeting, an election for Directors resulted in the retention of the old Board. The Directors then renewed their organization and Salem, which for the present publicans get the opportunity. But the Republicans get the opportunity rather more frequently, and they have made it a conspicuous evil during their long possession of power. We are sorry to say that the present Administration has not abandoned the practice.
